

Penology System To Be Analyzed

Crowding of Prisons and Severity of the Baumes Laws May Be Elements in the Bringing About of Recent Prison Outbreaks.

Albany, July 30 (AP).—Against the smoldering background of savage fighting in Clinton and Auburn Prisons, staged almost a week apart, today stood Governor Roosevelt's questioning of the state's whole system of penology and the declaration of other officials that the outbreaks "were to be expected" due to overcrowding.

Close observers of the tense situation growing out of the convicts thought it significant that both Governor Roosevelt and Dr. Raymond F. C. Kiehl, commissioner of corrections, brought up the theory that the workings of the so-called Baumes "long-sentence" laws resulted in the "feeling of bitterness" on the part of prisoners, causing them to flare up into open mutiny.

Governor Roosevelt outlined three steps to be taken to meet the situation. One of them was "more study of the system of penology, especially of the Baumes laws, and punishments." The others were: "Correct the present physical condition of the prisons" and "see that there are no further outbreaks, or if there are, to see that there is no destruction of property, or escapes."

In his statement the governor revealed that he is working out a system of military preparedness to handle possible future riots. With no National Guard units immediately available at Dannemora, in case of further disorders, the governor planned to circulate formally of securing aid from federal forces at Plattsburg barracks by having the postmaster ask for these troops through their commandant on the ground that government property—the Dannemora post office—is in danger.

Other features of the plan contemplate the special training of militia in the Auburn and Ossining sections for prison emergencies.

Touching on the Baumes laws, the governor, in his statement, said "they may be all right as a deterrent to crime, but all wrong as to the prisoners sentenced under them. There is much to be said on both sides."

The sentencing of persons for long terms "for crimes against property and not against persons has a tendency to make an individual feel bitter than if he were sentenced for a crime against persons."

Mr. Roosevelt issued his statement after receiving the official report on the Dannemora outbreak from Commissioner Kiehl. The mutiny cost the state $172,467, he said.

"Attention has frequently been called," Dr. Kiehl wrote, "to the fact that the mental atmosphere of the correctional institutions had changed materially during recent years, and that the attitude of the prisoners had shown a material change. There has been an evident feeling of discontent and unrest, which undoubtedly is partially explained by the long sentences; a tightening up of the parole system and the reception of a large number of men with life sentences, as well as the abolition of compensation which carried a remission of time for an industrial work record."

The report landed the warden, administrative officers and guards at Clinton prison for the "admirable manner in which they handled this trying situation" and felt that the State Troopers "should be commended for their assistance."

"I regret this unfortunate episode, but knowing the facts associated with the problems of housing or correctional wards, and, more particularly, the situation in Clinton prison, it is my personal opinion that the unfortunate episode could not have been prevented and that the same was handled in the most admirable and efficient manner."

More than 1,300 prisoners were involved in the outbreak at Dannemora. Three of them paid with their lives for their futile attempt in storming three walls, while armed only with improvised weapons. Close to 1,700 desperate men were involved in the Auburn outbreak. Two of them were shot to death. Four escaped.

The eyes of officialdom now are turned on Auburn, where the state's inquiry into the cause of the outbreak is in full swing.

DEMANDS RUSSIA CEASE PROPAGANDA IN CHINA

Peiping, July 30 (AP).—Chu Shao-Yang, Chinese minister to Finland, who may represent China in the negotiations with Soviet Russia for the settlement of the dispute over the Chinese eastern railway, arrived here from Nanking Monday. He stated China is ready to open negotiations with Russia as soon as Moscow authorities indicate a similar attitude.

If Russia will cease propaganda in this country China is ready to cooperate with Russia in the joint management and administration of the Chinese eastern, said the Chinese diplomat.

Confederates' Pictures at West Point

Washington, July 30 (AP).—Secretary Good has approved the suggestion of Major General William Smith, superintendent of the United States Military Academy, that "large and appropriate portraits" of Generals Robert E. Lee and P. G. T. Beauregard be hung in the cadet mess hall. Both these Confederate generals once were superintendents of the academy.

Democratic Pot To Boil Shortly

Pre-convention Gossip as to Probable Candidates for Office—Several Seck Nomination for Mayor—No Date Fixed for Convention Yet.

With several candidates mentioned for the nomination for mayor the Democratic political pot is shortly expected to start boiling. Although no date has been fixed as yet for the holding of the Democratic convention. It is expected that as usual the Democrats will wait until the Republican ticket has been named before placing a ticket in the field.

Three candidates for the Democratic nomination for mayor have been mentioned and a fourth candidate is liable to loom up on the political horizon, provided there is harmony in the Democratic ranks. The three candidates for the nomination for mayor are William B. Martin, Eugene B. Carey and Harry Clearwater.

The possible fourth candidate is Judge Harry E. Schrick, who was the candidate two years ago. So far but one candidate for the office of alderman-at-large has been prominently mentioned. It is stated that Alderman Leo W. Clare is in a receptive mood.

Gossip also has it that James D. Shields of Lackawack will likely be the Democratic nominee for sheriff. While no date has been fixed as yet by the Democrats for the convention it is expected that it will shortly be announced.

Seek Mysterious Triple Murderer

London, July 30 (AP).—London police threw a guard today about the home of Coroner Doctor Jackson of Croydon after the coroner and his wife received letters threatening them for his investigation of the death of Vera Sidney, one of three of a prominent Croydon family to die by poison.

While some of the police conceded the letters might be the work of some insane individual they were determined to take no chances. It was regarded as possible they actually represented the perpetrators of what is regarded now as the most mysterious major crime in England in recent years.

While it was the verdict of the coroner's jury yesterday that Vera Sidney had been murdered willfully by administration of poison, probably in her soup, inquests over the 40-year-old spinster's mother, Mrs. Violet Amelia Sidney, who died two months later, April 5, and Edmund Creighton Duff, son-in-law of Mrs. Sidney, must be carried to their finish.

The evidence thus far has showed Mrs. Sidney had the same poison administered in a medicine which she alone of the family took, while Duff, who died a year preceding Vera Sidney, had his poison given him in a glass of beer. He was the only member of the family who drank beer.

The murder mystery suddenly has come to the forefront of English public office, the prominence of the family, its wealth, and the mystery and apparent lack of motive of a triple killer giving it unusual interest.

English Textile Strike Still On

Manchester, England, July 30 (AP).—A half million Lancashire textile strikers entered the second day of their self-imposed idleness today as firm as ever in their determination not to accept the 12 1/2 per cent reduction in wages which the cotton mill owners imposed Saturday.

The mills were open, if the workers wanted to come to work, and in some few of the mills, where the wage reduction was not made immediately effective, a few thousand spinners and weavers followed their usual routine.

Contrary to the usual case in British trade disputes of such magnitude bitterness of feeling has not yet developed, and there was a firm belief in some quarters that the dispute would be settled amicably before it reached a more serious aspect, or the stoppage in wages among the none too well off workers began to be greatly felt.

Of the strikers all but 150,000 are union members, provided for by an unemployment wage or dole having an American equivalent of from $1.92 a week for young girls to $4.80 a week for men in the cardrooms; of from $1.64 to $5 for spinning operatives with 72 cents extra for every child in the family under 16; and of from $3.69 to $7.20 for weavers, according to the grades of their work.

These scales applied only to unionists. There are as many as 150,000 workers who are not union members, and conceivably they will be compelled to seek relief from the public authorities before many days.

HASTENS FROM RUSSIA TO SAIL WITH GRAF ZEPPELIN

Friedrichshafen, Germany, July 30 (AP).—Passengers for the Graf Zeppelin on its next flight to America hurried today toward Friedrichshafen from all parts of Europe by air, train, and motor so as to be on hand when the ship departs for Lakehurst, N. J., at dawn Thursday.

Departure of the giant dirigible was postponed yesterday from the date originally set, Wednesday morning, to enable several paying guests on the craft's trip to reach here.

Traveling farther than any others were Mrs. Henry J. Fierce, of New York, and her husband, who were reached by telegraph at Eamara, on the far away Volga river, in Soviet Russia, where they were on a tour with American business men through Russia.

The two left immediately, it was understood, and hoped to arrive at 10 p. m. tonight in Berlin, where a special airplane will be in readiness to convey them to Friedrichshafen, on Lake Constance.

Mrs. Pierce was the only woman passenger on the recent attempted crossing of the Zeppelin, which failed when motor trouble developed over the Mediterranean and it was forced to return to Germany, making an emergency landing enroute in France.

WRECKED BOAT, DOWN 90 FEET, MAY HOLD THREE

Arnolds Park, Iowa, July 30 (AP).—The fate of three persons who sought thrills and relief from Sunday's heat in a speed boat ride today lay hidden in the shattered hull of the rebuilt sub-chaser, Miss Thriller, 90 feet below the surface of Lake Okoboji.

All others, including nine dead who had been aboard the Miss Thriller and the Zipper, another speed boat, when they crashed, had been accounted for by Coroner P. G. Grimm.

Rescue workers today were devising means of raising the boat. The names of the missing are unknown. The pilots of the Miss Thriller reported fourteen passengers aboard, eleven of whom, including the nine dead, have been accounted for. The other three might have been picked up by other rescue craft, but it was feared they had gone down with the boat.

JURY FROM ANOTHER COUNTY FOR INDICTED STRIKERS

Gaston, N. C., July 30 (AP).—In the opinion of Judge M. V. Barnhill, 16 members of the National Textile Workers Union, accused of murder and conspiracy to murder, cannot obtain a fair trial from a jury of residents of this (Gaston) county.

He expressed the opinion shortly after the opening of a special term of Superior Court called to consider charges arising from the killing of Chief of Police O. F. Aderholt of Gaston on June 7 during disturbances due to a strike in the Lenoir mill of the Manville-Jencks Company.

The judge announced his intention to call a jury from another county and the defense moved for a change of venue. Adjournment was taken to permit the state time to submit evidence and arguments on the claims of the defense.

Old American Civilization Brought to Light

Col. Lindbergh Photographs Ruins of Ancient American Glories Dating Back to Time of Charlemagne.

Santa Fe, N. M., July 30 (AP).—Civilizations which flowered in Central and North America at a time when Charlemagne's military genius was consolidating a vast empire in Europe are surrendering the secrets of their ruins to this age with Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, a prime mover in the research work.

The glory which was Maya—exemplified by archaeological discoveries of the aborigines' knowledge of architecture, astronomy, sundry arts and writing—is being emphasized through the medium of the airplane. It was disclosed here yesterday that Colonel Lindbergh, aided by his bride, is taking a keen interest in archaeology, and has contributed to the historical record.

He discovered an ancient Mayan "lost city" in the Yucatan jungle. The find was made while Colonel Lindbergh was making his Pan-American "good will" tour. But the story of the colonel's interest in air photography of such ruins is one which had to be patched together and eventually reached after a lapse of almost a year, in which he exhibited his usual disinclination to talk about himself and his personal activities.

His interest aroused by the Yucatan discovery, Colonel Lindbergh consulted Dr. J. C. Merriam, president of the Carnegie Institution of Washington, and on invitation, advised the institution regarding the methods of making aerial surveys in the tropics.

At Dr. Merriam's suggestion, he agreed to photograph in Arizona and New Mexico localities known to contain ancient Pueblo ruins as well as unexplored regions.

It was during his stay with his bride at the archaeological camp at the Pecos ruins in this state that the photography program was initiated. He and Mrs. Lindbergh took pictures in Chaco Canyon, Pajarito Plateau and in the Rio Grande, Chama and Pecos valleys.

Car Ran Off Road Occupants Held

James Buxton and Arthur Beesmer Arrested for Public Intoxication Following Auto Accident—Beesmer Injured.

This morning about 8 o'clock a Chevrolet one-ton truck owned by The Colony at Woodstock, and driven by James Buxton, ran off the road just outside the city limits, and Arthur Beesmer, who was riding in the truck, was hurled out and injured. The police were notified and the city ambulance removed Beesmer to the Kingston Hospital, where it was found that his injuries, consisting of cuts about the head, were not serious and he was turned over to Sheriff Arthur Rice on a charge of public intoxication.

Buxton, the driver of the truck, was arrested by Deputy Ralph Constable, who charged him with public intoxication. Both were lodged in the county jail and will be arraigned later before Justice Speers in the town of Ulster.

The truck when it left the highway ran along the ditch alongside the road for a distance of about two hundred feet until it was suddenly stopped when it ran into a guy wire on a pole. The truck was not badly damaged.

Sovereignty of Turtle Islands

Washington, July 30 (AP).—The last outstanding question of sovereignty over insular possessions in the Pacific is expected to be settled this week with the signing of a treaty between the United States and Great Britain.

Negotiations to determine the sovereignty of the Turtle Islands and establish the southern boundary of the Philippines have been concluded here and incorporated in a treaty being drafted by the state department. An unusual arrangement, acknowledging American sovereignty in the Turtle Islands and assigning administration to the British, is expected to be evolved. The negotiations have been going on for only a few days.

The Turtle group includes seven islands of minute size with a population of 229 near the coast of British Borneo. Since '85 the islands have been administered by the British government under the provisions of a Spanish-German-British protocol. After the Philippine Archipelago was ceded to the United States in 1898, the United States entered into a provisional agreement with Great Britain whereby the administration was to continue in British hands, although the United States was fully recognized as having complete sovereignty.

Injured in Hayfield

The car of George Cummings of South Cairo is alleged to have injured Albert Batholtz of Coxsack Sunday when it ran off the Coxsack-Archers highway into the W. R. Page hayfield. Batholtz had his right leg broken and was severely cut and bruised. Why Cummings's car left the road has not been learned.

Spanish Flyers Are Dismissed

Major Franco Must Leave Air Service As Result of Failure of Transoceanic Flight.

Madrid, July 30 (AP).—The Major Ramon Franco, Spain's premier aviator and trans-Atlantic air hero, has been dismissed from the Spanish air service for offenses considered derogatory to Spain's air prestige. He need not leave the army, however, the infantry being open to him.

Two principal elements appeared in the dismissal, which was not the result so much of undertaking a transoceanic flight recently in defiance of purported government opposition, as in undertaking that flight in an Italian built plane, and in accepting French weather reports rather than those obtained by a Spanish observatory.

With this view the Spanish dictator had allowed to be constructed a huge four motored Dornier Wal plane at Cadix, of Spanish material, and a Spanish variation of the Dornier design. The plane, named the Numanca, was made available to Major Franco and his three companions, and it was supposed up to the last minute that they intended using it when they took off a month ago.

On the day prior to departure, however, the plane was given a test flight and developed some sort of motor trouble. Major Franco, consequently, on the succeeding morning took another Dornier plane, brought from Italy, and took off in it on the flight which ended in a forced landing near the Azores, where a British airplane carrier picked up the fliers days later.

BOY OF 11 SHOTS ANOTHER.

SHOTS 13, WITH RIFLE

Olean, N. Y., July 30 (AP).—Arthur Gerkin, 11 years old Rochester boy reported to have mortally wounded Henry King, 13, with a rifle in Portville, will not face the grand jury, according to a statement issued today by the district attorney, A. Edward Kreiger.

The shooting, which occurred when the King boy stepped onto the property of Earl E. Clayton to get a drink of water, was accidental, it was indicated, the district attorney said. The Gerkin boy, said to have admitted the shooting, was being held in this city.

Mr. Kreiger's statement was as follows:

"The Gerkin case will not be presented to the grand jury as a youth less than 16 years old is not held accountable for his actions, under the penal provisions of the law of the state of New York."

"There will be a hearing as soon as John N. Gerkin, father of the boy, returns from New York, and the charge against the boy, if any is made, will be that of juvenile delinquency. On this charge a minor may be sent to a reformatory, but this is discretionary with the presiding judge in children's court."

"I have not had full reports on this case, but so far as I know, it is indicated that the shooting was accidental."

COBB CITES OTHER

"NOBLE EXPERIMENTS"

Washington, July 30 (AP).—Irvin S. Cobb, in his first statement as chairman of the authors and artists committee of the association against the prohibition amendment, expresses the opinion that "if prohibition is a noble experiment, then the San Francisco flood and the Galveston flood also should be listed among the noble experiments of our national history."

Asserting the right to agitate for repeal or reinterpretation of prohibition by Congress, he said "we now know that millions of otherwise orderly citizens are engaged in constant violations of the letter and spirit" of the Volstead Act.

He cited "corruption, bribery, graft, hypocrisy, perjury, beer-wars, machine gun battles, debauchery of minors and a growing contempt for law and order" as outstanding "by-products of this general erosion of statutory regulations," he said.

"We have only to take the ordinary experiences of the ordinary man, along with his personal knowledge, and the dependable hearsay testimony which comes to his ears, and the indictment stands complete and perfected."

PARACHUTE JUMPER GETS SPRAINED ANKLE

Eric Lindgren, the parachute jumper connected with the Kingston Airport, on Saturday visited the Saugerties airport and made a jump from a plane piloted by Helger Holm of the Saugerties post. Before Lindgren jumped he thrilled the spectators by first throwing a dummy from the plane.

Lindgren then made his jump and when he landed on the athletic field at Saugerties he suffered a very painful sprain of the right ankle. Lindgren was brought to the Kingston City Hospital for treatment to the injured ankle.

It will be remembered that Lindgren narrowly escaped injury at the Kingston airport two weeks ago when he was struck in the head as he jumped from the plane and landed in a semi-conscious condition.

He has nearly completed his 1000 jumps and he has stated that his 1000th jump will end his career as a parachute jumper.

Passed Spurious $10 Bill Sunday

Utica Man and Woman Arrested Here by Police and Held for Federal Authorities Who Came After The Pair Monday.

John Malucco, 45, and Elizabeth G. Giddin, 43, both of Utica, who were arrested here Sunday morning by Officer Fitzgerald of the police force, were taken to New York city late Monday afternoon by secret service operatives, who had been notified of the arrest of the pair by Chief of Police J. Allan Wood.

It is alleged that the man and woman stopped their automobile early Sunday morning at the tangerine fruit farm at Esopus and purchased some fruit for which the man tendered a ten dollar bill in payment and received back over nine dollars in change.

Shortly after the pair had resumed their trip toward Kingston it was ascertained that the ten dollar bill was counterfeit and word was telephoned to the police department, giving a description of the car and the man and woman, who later were stopped at the Rondout Creek Bridge by Officer Fitzgerald.

According to the police several other bills similar to that passed at the fruit farm were found on the couple. They were locked up in the county jail and the federal authorities in New York city notified by Chief Wood.

Youth Drowned at Eddyville Monday

Albert Mainzer, 18, of New York City, Loses Life While Swimming in Rondout Creek—Body Recovered Later.

Albert Mainzer, 18, of New York City, was drowned Monday afternoon while swimming in the Rondout creek at Eddyville. The young man was said to be a fairly good swimmer, and it is believed that he was seized with cramps and drowned before aid could reach him.

The youth was spending his summer vacation at Eddyville and on Monday had gone in swimming with several friends a short distance above the dam at what is known as Church Hill.

The drowning occurred about 5:30 o'clock that afternoon but the body was not recovered until about 8 o'clock that evening when James McGrath of Eddyville, who had been diving for it, brought it to the surface.

The Kingston fire department was asked to send the inhalator and Deputy Fire Chief Frederick M. Leverich and Fireman Peter Carey responded but the body had been in the water too long for any successful efforts to be made to resuscitate Mainzer.

The body was taken in charge by Coroner W. Norman Conner, who notified the youth's family of his death. The young man resided with his parents at 15 West 198th street, New York city.

Threatened by Escaped Convicts

Oneonta, N. Y., July 30 (AP).—Two of the four convicts who escaped from Auburn prison Sunday were seen near here yesterday by Mrs. John Hungerford, who told State Troopers the men had pointed a revolver at her and demanded food.

This was the first report authorities had received on any of the fugitives.

Mrs. Hungerford's description of the men, one of whom she said wore prison garb while the other was in civilian clothes, dovetailed with a report from Syracuse that a suit of clothes had been stolen from the home of D. C. Schwartz by a person who discarded a dun uniform. It was also believed that the convicts had stolen a car early Monday owned by J. M. Hastings of Solvay, a suburb of Syracuse, after abandoning an auto seized from Jacob Reese of Auburn shortly after their escape over the prison walls.

Photograph of the fugitives was shown Mrs. Hungerford and she identified two of them as the men who surprised her yesterday while she was preparing a meal in her kitchen. She said she ran through another door and went to a nearby farm to summon help. When she returned with several men the fugitives had fled.

TO RID LOWER MISSISSIPPI OF NORMAL FLOOD DANGER

Washington, July 30 (AP).—High army engineer officers expect this year's work to rid the lower Mississippi Valley of the menace of disastrous floods unless the water unexpectedly reached such tremendous high levels as in 1927.

Construction of levees and floodways along the Mississippi and its principal tributaries has progressed, the engineers say, until they can withstand any rise in the waters except a flood of catastrophic nature.

The effectiveness of the lower valley protection system, they believe, was demonstrated by the very high water last spring.

About $54,000,000 has been expended out of $225,000,000 appropriated under the 1928 flood control act. Major General Edgar Jadwin, chief of army engineers, said today:

Death and Drouth Mark Heat Wave

New York, July 30 (AP).—With the exception of the Pacific coast, the entire country today lay under a pall of heat.

The highest temperature for Monday was 95 at Helena and Omaha. Other high readings were: Washington, 90; Helena, Mont., 94; Denver, 92; Portland, Me., 91; Milwaukee, Kansas City, St. Louis and Salt Lake City, 90.

In contrast to these figures were temperatures of 61 degrees at San Francisco, 70 at San Diego and 75 at Los Angeles.

Thunder showers, bringing temporary relief to withering city dwellers, but only aggravation to farmers watching their crops rapidly succumb to the drouth, were reported at various points in the east. In New York city, where the mercury stood at 91 at noon, a short rain storm, accompanied by lightning, drove the temperature down 10 degrees in slightly more than a minute.

Fourteen persons were injured by flying glass when lightning struck a Brooklyn street car bearing a rush hour crowd of more than 40 passengers. Two heat deaths and 11 prostrations occurred in the city. Two deaths in Philadelphia were attributed to the heat.

Fires, started by lightning, occurred at various points in Pennsylvania. At Westchester, 55 head of a herd of blooded cattle were killed by a lightning bolt. Five horses and many hogs and chickens were killed in fires that destroyed two barns at Boycetown.

The drouth that has caused truck farmers throughout the North Atlantic States to despair of the crops brought danger of a heavy loss of fish life to Maine, where streams and brooks have been drying up alarmingly. Forest officials in Maine and New Hampshire have indicated intention of closing the forests to campers and tourists because the drouth has increased the danger of forest fires.

The prolonged drouth that has placed the grain crops of northwest Canada in jeopardy showed no signs of abatement. The temperature reached 103 degrees at Edmonton, Alberta, and 100 degrees at Medicine Hat, Alberta. Manitoba and Saskatchewan also continued hot and dry.

Disciples Of Christ Hopeful Of Mending Rift In Church Ranks

Harry H. Rogers of Tulsa, Okla. (left), is president of the Disciples of Christ convention, scheduled for August 8-14 at Seattle. Dr. Graham Frank of Dallas, Tex. (right), is secretary. The Rev. F. W. Burnham of Indianapolis (below), is president of the United Christian Missionary society.

Seattle, Wash. (AP)—A break in the ranks of the Disciples of Christ, resulting from a difference over baptismal practices, is ready for mending.

Dr. E. S. Jouett of Louisville, Ky., is ready to report to the church's seventy-fifth international convention August 8-14 that progress has been made in efforts to unite the Disciples and the North American Christian organization.

Dr. Jouett, former president, and chairman of a reconciliation committee, is hopeful that the units will meet in joint convention next year at Washington.

The break followed charges that church leaders were not enforcing the complete immersion form of baptism. Ultra-conservatives declared some members, particularly in the missionary field, were "winking" at it.

The pension campaign plans perfected for the raising of $8,000,000 for superannuated ministers, will be launched at the convention here. Ministers during their active years will contribute to the fund, and it will be swelled by money drawn from the church budget.

All branches of the church will meet during the convention, each disposing of the problems peculiar to their efforts.

Harry H. Rogers, Tulsa, Okla., banker, former head of Rotary International and a member of the federal reserve board, is president of the convention. Dr. Graham Frank of Dallas is secretary.

"Magnifying our ministry" is the theme of the convention. All topics for discussion will relate to ministers and their work.

Home and Foreign missions discussions will be under the direction of the Rev. F. W. Burnham of Indianapolis, president since 1919 of the United Christian Missionary society.

JEWELRY OF CZAR JUST MELTED AWAY

Brooklyn Woman Discovers She Was Gyped.

New York—When the Russian crown jewels melted and ran down the side of her kitchen radiator Mrs. Rebecca Barasch of 556 Crown street, Brooklyn, knew that she had been gyped.

She was further convinced when the few jewels which did not melt proved to be a poor grade of glass, and as a result she spent three days in the "rogue" gallery at police headquarters.

In the end she succeeded in identifying three men from whom she had bought the treasure of the late Romanoff the $800, and all three were arrested and locked up at Brooklyn police headquarters on charges of grand larceny.

They said they were Stefano Anillo, thirty-four years old; Frank Russo, thirty-six, and Emanuel Fallacano, thirty. On being questioned regarding the jewel transaction all three denied they were in any way connected with it. Mrs. Barasch, however, is positive in her identification, and the police believe that the men have been doing a big business in the name of the late czar during the last few months.

Speaks in Russian.

According to Mrs. Barasch two of them, Anillo and Fallacano, met her at the corner of New York avenue and Union street, May 22, and started talking in Russian. She is sixty-five years old and the sound of her native tongue was pleasant to hear.

The two told her they were refugees from the Soviet regime and that they were anxious to find the local Russian colony.

"You see," said one, "we stole the czar's crown jewels. They are worth a fabulous fortune and we must either sell them or give them to somebody to keep for us."

Mrs. Barasch had heard about the crown jewels being sold on the Rue de la Paix, but apparently forgot about it. She asked to see them, and was shown a pocketful of gleaming, crystal diamonds. They almost took her breath away but she asked:

"How can I tell that they are real?"

Drew Out $800.

"Why we will take you around to any jewelry store," offered one of the refugees, and they started out. As they were about to enter one, Russo, it is alleged, stepped from the doorway. He was identified as a jeweler and appraised the pocket of diamonds as being authentic, and worth a fortune.

In the end Mrs. Barasch took all three men to her bank. She drew out every cent that she had, $800, and apologized for not having more.

Then she took the Romanoff fortune home in her handkerchief and laid it out on the radiator while she prepared dinner. There were 20 big diamonds in all. Mrs. Barasch thought herself as wealthy as Czar Nicholas was, but when half way through peeling the potatoes she happened to cast a glance at her treasure.

Only eight remained. The others were a puddle of paste on the floor and these eight she later found to be glass.

In arresting the three men, the detectives stated that they watched their house for three days and that reports of their having sold crown jewels in Detroit have been received.

Cult Quitting Kansas; Opposed to Tractors

Dodge City, Kan.—In the past six months there has been a steady exodus of the Amish people from southwest Kansas until only about four families are left of a community which had numbered more than 300.

The farmers of the Amish cult, who are frugal and successful, refuse to give in to the machinery age. They won't use tractors or install telephones or even window shades in their homes. They also oppose insurance, radio, phonographs and all musical instruments.

Rather than surrender their horses and their methods of farming, these people are moving to New Jersey, Virginia and Maryland, where they believe they can farm according to their own methods.

Lexington, N. C. (AP)—This is only fish story No. 1,347,552, but it helps to make life brighter. Sons of F. G. Fitzgerald, Linwood, set out some hooks for catfish with bait near the top. They returned to find a huge owl, the hook sunk in its wing, and its body enmeshed in the line.

Cigar factories of Tampa, Fla., produced 566,331,219 cigars in the fiscal year 1929.

Forest Fire Situation Grave

Washington, July 30 (AP)—Characterizing the present forest fire situation as "the most critical the nation has known in many years," George D. Pratt, president of the American Forestry Association, today urged government, state and private agencies to drastic action to prevent what might become a national catastrophe.

Mr. Pratt said present means for prevention and protection are "hopelessly inadequate," and pointed to fires sweeping over thousands of acres in California and the Pacific northwest with little relief in sight. He cited that in the modern national forest in California more than 50,000,000 board feet of lumber have been burned and more than 8,000 acres of forest land burned over.

American Indian Music.
Among the Indians of the Southwest notch sticks, which are rapped together or on gourds, bones or baskets to accentuate the rhythm, and rattles, too, are common. The Maiden Indians of California have a musical bow possessed of great religious importance.

Betz Preparing Plans for High School Addition

Estimated that 12-room addition will cost $120,000—Plans ready for bidders about September 1—To be built in rear.

Architect Gerald W. Betz is busy preparing the plans for the proposed twelve-room addition to the Kingston High School, and it is expected that the plans will be ready to submit prospective bidders about the first of September. It is estimated that the cost of the new addition will be $120,000, which will include furnishings.

The new building will be built in the rear of the school and will conform to the present structure, building a six room addition on each of the two wings.

Included in this year's school budget is an item of $60,000, which will be used in carrying part of the cost of the proposed addition.

Preliminary plans for the addition have been made by the architect, and it was stated today that it was expected that the final plans would be ready about the first of September.

The largely increased registration of pupils at the high school has made the building of the addition necessary.

Progress In Navy Reduction

London, July 29 (AP).—The British government, drawing a fourth official in conversations on the subject of naval reduction, believes progress has been made toward an accord to curtail world navies.

An official communique issued at Downing street, office of Premier MacDonald, said:

"A further conference was held at 10 Downing street today between the prime minister and the first lord of the admiralty on the one hand and General Dawes and Mr. Gibson on the other.

"It is understood substantial progress was made toward a naval agreement."

The conference of the American ambassador, the British premier, Ambassador Gibson and A. V. Alexander, first lord of the admiralty, lasted more than an hour. The communique at its end was the first to come from Downing street on the subject.

While there was no disposition to add to the wording of the communique at either the American embassy or in British official circles it was believed possible the inclusion of the admiralty chief in the conversations yesterday meant the discussion had narrowed closer to the "naval yardstick" idea advanced by President Hoover as a basis for determining naval parity.

For the Love of a Lady

by Jeffery Farnol

Chapter II
MANY SECRETS

OLD Ben greeted my lady Helen affectionately, obviously fascinated by her graceful movement that accentuated her marked beauty.

"Will 'ee be a-waitin' your which, my lady?"

"No, no, Ben, I'm here to escape the company, and gossip with the stable."

"Why, then—a cheer, my lady,

Jarge, Jarge lad, fetch my elbow-cher."

George obeyed, and instantly vanished.

"And now," said my lady, sinking into the elbow chair, "sit and talk to me, Ben; tell me all the news."

"Noos, my lady," croaked the old man. "Lordy, there's been a lot of goin'-on 'ereabouts o' late—

some says the village be haunted."

"Haunted, Ben?"

"Ar, ma'm! But first I'll tell 'ee

'bout Master Oldcroft. You've heard of 'e, my lady, the folke, smart constable from London as thinks 'issel so sharp as a packet

o' needles. This 'ere very mornin, they finds this Master Old-croft... fast 'e the stocks... 'e tid up in a sack, an' 'e'd been in they stocks... a right long!"

"But, Ben, how came he there?

Who did it?"

"Why, ma'm, 'tis wot nobody doant seem nowise to know, nohow.

Joel Elm, as 'elped to find 'em, du tell me as Master Oldcroft stank pretty strong o' brimstone!"

"Horrors, Ben!"

"Orners be the word, ma'm!

There be things 'appenin' 'ere o' nights as did not nowise ought!"

"Instance, then, be 't' o'w'd haunted mill—full o' 'orrors every night—

gashly lights!"

"How so, Ben?"

"Well they flitters 'ere and there

—they skips and likewise dances.

And ye see, nobody don't never go nor venture a-nigh the place."

"Ax-cuse me, Ben!" said George, appearing suddenly, "but I see Mr.

Pitt there 't'other afternoon, along

o' one o' the gentlemen."

The captain's face was perhaps a little paler than usual, and he bore one arm in a sling, otherwise he seemed as laughably assured, as impeccably serene as usual.

"A cord, sir!" cried old Ben reproachfully. "But—did 'ee see the cord, sir?"

"Nay, or I should have avoided

it. But I felt it fairly catch and

I found marks of a cord on one of the bandiers."

"But who?" cried Helen, "who should work such despicable vil-lany?"

"The captain sighed and shook his head.

"Who knows?" said he gently.

"But pray will you not ask me in out of the sun?"

Here old Ben, meeting the captain's eloquent look, vanished;

then the captain, leaning in over the half-door, spoke in softly moderated voice:

"Also, Helen, I desire to talk with you about—our principal, Sir

Richard Guyford."

"Our principal?" she questioned.

"Undoubtedly, Helen, for are we not his accomplices after the fact?

Did we not suppress the evidence of his signature?"

My lady bit her rosy nether-lip and frowned at the point of her dainty shoe. The captain entered the stable and, seating himself gracefully on the corn-bin, quoth

he gently:

"You were so passionate to aid him and I have wondered—why?"

"Because I believed him innocent."

"Did you, Helen? But was there not a moment—when you deemed him guilty?"

My lady yawned behind three fingers.

"You become wearisome, sir," sighed she and rose.

"I regret it, madam!" said he,

rising also. "But regarding Sir

Richard, now—"

"He was my friend, sir."

"Happy creature!" murmured the captain. "Your friend! Would you have done as much for any other, for me, Helen? For..."

Brookhurst?"

My lady, being on her feet, swept towards the door even as the old man, slouched by, pitched on shoulder.

"Pray, Helen," sighed the captain, "would you do for any other

what you are doing—for him?"

Helen turned, viewed the speaker in wild-eyed amazement.

"I detect riddles, sir," said she loftily. "You must speak plainer."

"Plainer? Is it needful?" he questioned gently. "Yes, upon my life, I do believe it is! Then, Helen,

can I be possible you are unaware—that you have no suspicion—"

And then, with a wild clatter of hoofs, the Marquis galloped into stable-yard.

"Alas, Helen—Richard's taken!"

he cried. "I met that old fellow

Oldcroft on the road who tells me

they ha' the poor flow fast by th'

heels at last!"

"Ah!" breathed my lady and,

though the exclamation was scarce more than a whisper, she leaned heavily across the half-door, crushing the harsh edges of that crumpled paper into her tender flesh yet feeling it no whit.

"What can be done?" she questioned breathlessly. "Ned, what can we do? Do something, Ned!"

"Ay, faith!" quoth the Marquis, wheeling his eager animal, "I ride

now to comfort the poor soul."

"One moment, my lord!" said

Captain Despard. "Pray when was he taken, and where?"

"Last night, sir, at a small place hard by Newhaven."

"Then, my lord, either this information is false or Sir Richard hath since escaped."

"How, sir... ha' 'escaped?"

Pray, what 'd ye mean?"

"I mean, Marquis, that he is as free as you or I I saw him—not 10 minutes ago."

"Where, sir—where?" cried the Marquis, glancing about eagerly.

"Ten minutes, say you? Then he can't be far! Pray tell us!"

"No, my lord," answered the captain, smiling, "since I have surprised this gentleman's secret, you must suffer me to keep it secret still!"

What is Sir Richard's secret that Despard refuses to divulge? Continue the story tomorrow.

Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief

(By The Associated Press)

New York—Twenty-seven years after her mother captured the crown, Dorothy Bundy perhaps will be seeking the women's national tennis championship. Back from abroad the summer May Sutton expressed the opinion that her daughter, now 12 years old, would be ready for major competition in two more years.

Anderson, Ind.—Having played 10 rounds of golf in a day, Donald Hunter thinks he holds a record. He started on the municipal course at 8 a. m. and sank the last putt on the 18th hole at 6:55 p. m.

New York—Anything within reason in the way of dress reform for men, it seems, can get by in the big town. W. Saunders, who was arrested in his home town of Elizabeth, N. C., for wearing pajamas on the street, tried to pass on Fifth avenue without attracting much attention except from photographers.

Ottawa—On this theory church collections in the U. S. A. should be bigger. An Ottawa churchman names the government for decreasing offerings of his congregation. New and larger five cent pieces were put into circulation recently. They are dropped into the plate, the minister says, with flourishes that belong to money less than a quarter.

New Rochelle—Up goes the collar button record. John C. M. Gates has worn one steadily 61 years. Gates acquired his with part of his first salary. He is 84 years old.

Pittsburgh, Pa.—Movies are to be free in four city parks Sundays. Private parties have provided $5,000 for the purpose. The mayor's plan for paying the expense out of city funds was defeated by the city council.

Ottawa—The Dominion government has bought 3,000 reindeer in Alaska. The animals will be driven to the Mackenzie river section to provide food for Eskimos.

Stapp Lake Lodge, Col.—Seven women and three men, members of a club, are living in a portion of St. Vrain canon which they have named "Tale of Enchantment." Sheriff Burgess has informed them they must wear clothes. He was moved to give warning when a woman tourist told him of a sunbather she had noticed. The sheriff could not find the bather.

Bloomington, July 29.—William Hoey and sister, Marion of New York city, who spent a couple of weeks with Miss Lizzie Zuelich, returned to their home on Sunday evening.

Mrs. A. D. Relyea and son, Gordon, sister-in-law, Mrs. DeVitt Smedes and little daughter, moved to New York city Wednesday afternoon of last week and returned again to their home on Thursday evening.

the church at 9:30 and will leave Orange Lake at 4:30. Children belonging to school will be taken free. Visiting children will be charged 50 cents and adults $1. Each one bring their own lunch. Not knowing how many were going it was thought best to have a basket lunch. Those having cars to offer, should there not be room in the bus for all, please notify Superintendent Harold Taylor. A musical entertainment will be given in the church on Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock. It will consist of sacred music. An offering will be taken. It is given to aid in buying new hymn books for the church.

FRANCE JAILS MILLIONAIRES

Latest Recruit Among the Moneyed Jailbirds Is Accused of Two Murders.

Paris.—The United States may have its St. Charles case, but France has been busy completing during the last few months in jailing many of her millionaires.

The affair started in the ranks of bankers. There was an epidemic of suspicious failures in business and in investigations led to many interesting disclosures regarding the transactions of many notable men in the world of finance and likewise led to prison for the individuals concerned.

The latest recruit among the moneyed jailbirds is named as a much more sinister figure than any of the others, however, since his financial transactions are alleged to have involved the violent deaths of at least two people.

Enraged Mob.
This man, declared to be the most remarkable character to have appeared in a French criminal trial since the days of Landru, is thirty-three-year-old Charles Barataud, being tried at the assizes at Limoges, in south-western France. Every day when he is conveyed from jail to the courthouse he is surrounded by a squadron of cavalry to beat back the angry mob clamoring for the head of the youthful millionaire.

The trial had to be postponed one day because the general commanding the local garrison wrote to the judge stating that he could not supply a force of troops sufficient to insure the safety of the prisoner against the enraged mob in the streets.

Barataud is accused of having murdered the driver of a taxicab for the sake of his money and to have later shot down a youthful friend who knew Barataud's secret. It is alleged also that he planned the murder of two other persons who, however, suspected his intentions and were able to overcome him when they kept the rendezvous he had made with them in the woods near Limoges.

The weak point in the prosecution's case is to show cause why Barataud, the son of a millionaire and himself ranking as having a like amount of wealth, should kill a taxi driver, unless he had been overcome by mania.

Two Suicide Attempts.
All kinds of legends have been woven around Barataud by the local people. He was credited with the declaration that he would never be brought to trial. Twice he was found in his cell with knife wounds and nearly dead both times.

The trial is likely to go on for weeks yet. Meanwhile fresh forces of infantry and cavalry have been ordered from neighboring garrison towns. The town is well placarded with bills denouncing the perversity of the court towards the prisoner, where it is contended that his money is in his favor. This case recalls that of another millionaire and aristocrat, the Comte de Bofec, who a few months ago received sentence for seven years imprisonment for the murder of his son born to the family servant girl. There was an outcry then because it was claimed that the family's money had saved the noble youth's head from the guillotine.

Experiment With New Metal for British Navy

London.—The British admiralty has been conducting experiments with a new metal which it is believed will revolutionize naval construction.

These experiments have progressed so far it is proposed to armor one of the next vessels to be built with it and submit it to exhaustive tests.

The metal, which is a secret alloy is stainless and not affected by water. Sea parasites such as barnacles do not adhere to it and even sea weeds will not stick to it.

It is harder and tougher than any known metal and no drill has been found capable of piercing it.

This quality has been a handicap, but a process of welding has been worked out by which a new combination of electricity and gas enables a joint to be made which is stronger and smoother than that made with unwelded plates.

Competition Is Scarce, Champ Woodman Finds
Corinth, N. Y.—A new world's championship was claimed here recently by Peter McLaren, doughty Australian, who challenged all comers in a wood chopping exhibition.

Built along the lines of Jess Willard, former world's heavy weight boxing champion, McLaren wielded his ax so deftly, cutting through a log 16 inches in diameter in one minute and twenty seconds, that not one of the hardy woodsmen who witnessed his feat accepted his challenge. One chunk hewed from the log was ten inches wide and five inches thick.

Following his demonstration McLaren shouldered his ax and set out for Saranac lake and Tupper lake, where he said "the woods are big and I hope to find a hardy 'feller' to accept my challenge."

Sacred Stone of Erin Lodged in Cathedral

The ancient Cloughmore stone from which Cloughmore, Ireland, is said to have derived its name, has, with the consent of the bishop of Cloughmore, been placed in the vestibule of St. Mary's cathedral, to preserve it from the weather. The Cloughmore stone is said to have been one of the three sacred stones of Erin, the others being the Lifford or Stone of Destiny, which rests under the coronation chair in Westminster abbey, and the Ulster Cloughmore, which is supposed to have been before St. Patrick rested against the north wall of the cathedral, was visited at one time by Governor MacDonagh, high king of Ulster. Canon Maguire, who wrote a commentary on the register of Cloughmore in 1450, states: "This sacred stone was preserved on the right of the entrance into the church, and traces of the gold with which it has been covered by the worshippers of the holy Cloughmore are still visible."

National Capital

Historians of Washington mention that when Virginia and Maryland ceded their state sovereignty over land for a national capital, the ownership of the land remained vested in the individual owners, the government having to buy what was needed for federal purposes. There were 10 original proprietors, including four principal landowners, Daniel Carroll, David Burnes, Samuel Davidson and Notley Young. Carroll's property included the present Capitol hill. Burnes owned a large part of the land covered by the present city, including the sites of the White House and treasury building.

Fifty-Fifty

The well-known Irish comedian, Talbot Parrell, tells the story of a typical "bull" perpetrated by one of his countrymen.

A small touring company was playing to rather meager audiences in a remote Irish town, and the manager, wishing to find out how the attendance at his show compared with the attendances at others, asked one of the local inhabitants how the theater was usually patronized.

"Oh, not so bad, not so bad," was the reply. "Sometimes it's half full, and sometimes it's half empty."—Pearson's Weekly.

Disease Germs Cannot Live in Mother's Milk

Scientists have known for some time that babies fed on mother's milk were protected in some mysterious fashion from various diseases such as whooping cough, measles, diphtheria and the like. Now it appears that the mother's milk actually has the power of killing disease germs. Dr. Friedrich Schlegel, bacteriologist at Bern, Switzerland, has experimented with milk from nursing mothers and found that the milk has this bactericidal power to a very high degree. If the milk is kept at a warm temperature this power may be demonstrated for sixty hours or more. Such bacteria as get into it are at least very much retarded in their development if not actually killed. The milk is even able to destroy bacteria which do not normally occur in it. Botted milk has not this power. Doctor Schlegel has succeeded in filtering milk, obtaining a clear greenish liquid which contained albumin but no fat. The germs naturally contained in the milk stayed back with the fat, but the power to kill bacteria remained in the clear filtrate. This was proved by adding germs to the filtrate, which destroyed them.

Juvenile Love at Last Has Legal Definition

A Los Angeles couple eloped to Santa Ana with the intention of getting married, but failed of the desired object owing to the fact that both were minors. Later, the young man was sued by the irate father of the girl.

When the case came up, the attorney for the defense asked that the action be dismissed on the ground that no harm had been done, that if any offense had been committed both parties were equally at fault and that when all was said and done, it was just a case of puppy love.

"What do you call puppy love?" asked the court.

"Well," replied the attorney, "it's the kind that's too young to have to get a license for."—Los Angeles Times.

Head Alone Lives

"In October or November every year," writes Prof. J. Arthur Thomson in "John O' London's Weekly," "when the moon enters on its third quarter, for half an hour before sunrise, the long palolo worms back out of the crevices among the coral reefs and jerk off their whole body, except the head end, which keeps its hold in the coral cranny. Then the sea teems with wriggling greenish worms; it is like vermicelli soup for several inches deep. The worm-bodies wriggle and burst, liberating millions of egg cells and sperm cells. All the bodies die; but the heads live on and grow new bodies for next year, thus avoiding the calamity of total death. Sabdity at a low level."

Dairy Waste Utilized

The possibilities of the use of the wastes of the dairy were realized only a few years ago, but it has now developed into an extensive industry. Casein is now used in many cases as substitutes for ivory, ebony, pearl, amber and tortoise shell. Many of the staples and novelty articles, such as beads, buckles, buttons, combs, cigarette holders, cuff links, dominoes, dice, roller articles, fountain pen barrels, penholders, pipe stems, etc., now contain casein products.

Greatest Deficiency

Man seems to be deficient in nothing so much as he is in time.—Zeno.

His Life Dedicated to Fight on Tuberculosis

Dr. Edward Livingston Trudeau, the pioneer in the modern treatment of tuberculosis in America, was himself a sufferer from the disease. In spite of his illness, however, he did much experimental work as well as diagnosis and treatment. Dr. J. A. Myers, in a sketch of Doctor Trudeau's life in Hygeia Magazine, observes that perhaps nothing in the whole field of medicine in the last fifty years has done so much directly and indirectly to relieve suffering and extend the years of usefulness of so many people as the principles that this physician laid down at the sanatorium at Saranac Lake.

It was Trudeau who opened the first laboratory for the study of tuberculosis in America. It was he who first grasped the principle of tuberculosis immunity. It was he who did the first experimental work in this country in this country. It was he who first studied and classified the tubercle bacillus in this country. It was he who built that pleasure sanatorium at Saranac Lake which has treated more than 6,500 patients and today stands in the front rank of such institutions.

Salt in History

Savage races have lived without salt, but history shows that wherever it has been obtainable, even at the cost of much time and money, man has struggled to obtain it. This is probably more because of the need for salt in food, than because of its own value as a food. The element found in salt are usually present in sufficiently large quantities in the diet.

However, the addition of more or less large quantities of salt seems to do no harm to the average person. Excessive consumption may affect the assimilation of the food.

ON REARING CHILDREN from CRIB TO COLLEGE

Compiled by the Editors of "CHILDREN THE PARENTS' MAGAZINE"

The purpose of the modern museum is to tell in a forceful way what is already known, and to add to the general stock of what may be known—to collect facts rather than specimens. It is true that in this the museum is obliged to simulate nature by using models, pictures, preserved animals, plants, but always with the intent of leading the visitor to betake himself to the out-of-doors and there acquaint himself with nature at first hand.

A baby's comfort is in part dependent upon the way he is dressed. A diaper should be folded oblong rather than triangular and tied or pinned at the sides and then tied or pinned to the flannel band at the sides and front, thus making a pantlike garment. It is more comfortable and less bungling when applied in this manner.

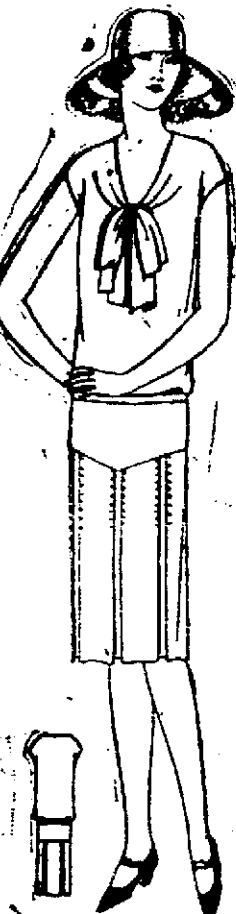

"It is significant," says Louis Bromfield, the novelist, in an article appearing in Children, The Parents' Magazine, "that in the Victorian era the word 'mother' was treated as something sacred and above criticism. Any wife who gave birth to a child became, regardless of her vices or stupidity, a mother and as such surrounded by a halo of sentimentality which obscured stupidities, cruelty and ignorance. We have, I think, progressed a little."

A mistake commonly made in buying toys is that of getting many cheap, poorly constructed ones. An adult could not handle such toys without breaking them, and certainly a child should not be expected to do so. It is unfair to take the attitude that toys will be broken and that, therefore, it is just as well to buy cheap ones.

Remember that the child's interest and curiosity are natural, normal and healthy; that it is only by making queries that the child can eventually understand his world. He has to make these queries about many things—sex is only one—and if you have ever considered a child's questions, or kept track of them over any considerable period of time, you have found that only a small group of them have to do with sex.

The sun bath should be given when the sun is well up but not at its height, to avoid the burning rays. A good time is between ten and eleven in the morning or between three and four in the afternoon. Send your child out to play in the sun for about five minutes at first, increasing the time until it has reached half an hour.

OUR DAILY PATTERN.

A Pleasing Frock For Sports or Country Wear.

6464. This is an excellent model for crepe de chine, crepe or handkerchief linen, in white or in the new pastel shades. Pique is also suggested. The waist has a short kimono sleeve and fullness gathered at the center of the front beneath a soft bow tie. The skirt is arranged in wide plaits below a yoke shaped with diagonal lines in front and above which the waist blouses becomingly.

The pattern for this pleasing style is cut in 6 sizes: 34, 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44 bust measure. To make a 38 inch size will require 3 1/2 yards of 39 inch material. If the waist and belt are preferred in contrasting material, this will require 1/2 yard 2 1/2 inches wide, cut crosswise. The width of the dress at the lower edge with plaits extended is 3 yards.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 12c in coin or stamps by the Pattern Department, The Freeman, Kingston, N. Y. Be sure to state the size wanted.

Send 15c in coin or stamps for our Up-to-Date Spring and Summer 1929 Book of Fashions, showing color plates, and containing 500 designs of Ladies', Misses' and Children's Patterns, a Concise and Comprehensive Article on Dressmaking, also Some Points for the Needle (illustrating 30 of the various, simple stitches) and valuable hints to the home dressmaker.

France will have a national school for aviation with numerous laboratories for research and tests.

ELEANOR GURN ON FASHIONS

The Changing Season Does Not Affect the Status of Prints.

New York.—As the photographs snapped at Autecil and other fashionable race courses arrive, one is most forcibly impressed by the lengthened skirts. Those that are uneven are of course, as expected, long at the back but short in the front, yet on close scrutiny they have added an inch or two even to their shortest point. Skirts that are evenly hemmed have dropped several inches and it is the exceptional one which is without pleats or something by way of fullness.

Suit skirts are either pleated or of the wrap around type, a type of skirt which is also found in some good looking dresses, especially those fashioned of light weight wool or of heavy silk, both materials being amply represented.

The Heavy Silk of the Wrap-around Frock Is Printed in a Broken Stripe Design With Wide Bands Worked in Geometric Effect. The Dress Is a Double Wrap-around, the Bodice Wrapped Over and Closing at the Right and the Skirt at the Left. (Copyright, 1929, by Fairchild.)

Although we have accustomed ourselves to thinking of printed silks as a summer item and of visualizing winter clothes of plain fabrics, it begins to look as though novelty materials will be carried into the new season. Not only this but an effort is being put forth to reinstate both beaded and other embroidered effects.

Among the colors which have already registered as important for fall are rich shades of plum, a color which has been entirely ignored of recent years. It comes in line with other dignified details, and formal notes borrowed from the Victorian age.

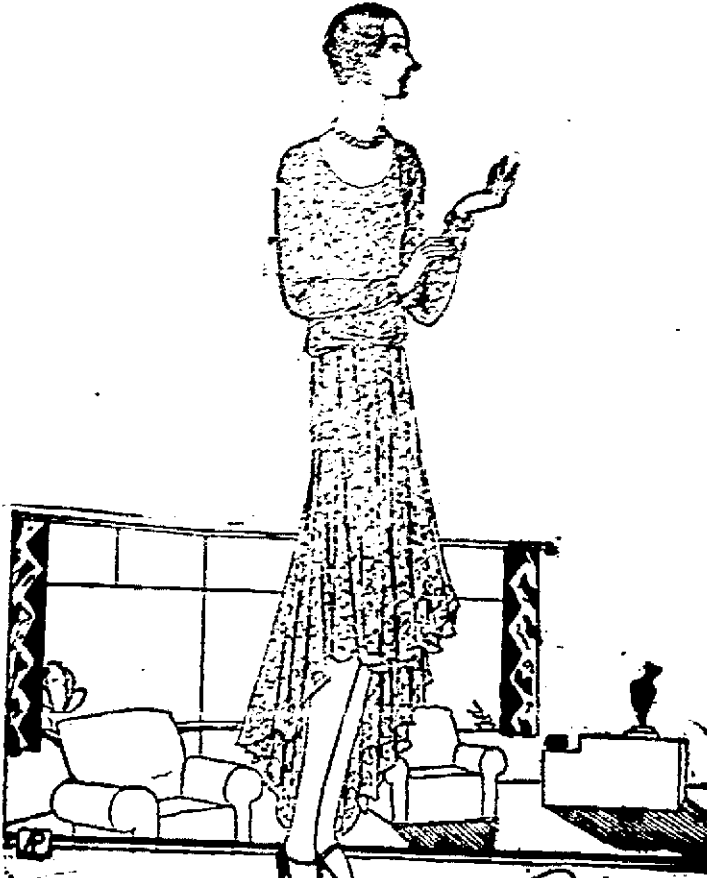

Printed velvets have been presented before and have had a measure of success they are among the important fall entries and are being put to a variety of uses among which may be mentioned lounging pajamas. (Copyright, 1929, by United Feature Syndicate, Inc.)

An All-Day-Romper for Roll-and-Tumble Wear

Cut envelope shape, the romper slips comfortably over the head. Three buttons fasten the straight lower edges between chubby legs. The blouse buttons are within reach of the child's own hands. It looks like a suit. Although it goes on all in one piece, it has the appearance of shorts and blouse. In blue and white, green and white, or beige and white linen, it is trim enough for a small boy to wear after an afternoon nap. The collar is a straight piece. The front may be turned back. For the bending over, roll-and-tumble age, the romper is made roomy through the crotch. The sleeves are short for air and sun.—Woman's Home Companion.

REUNITES FAMILY AFTER ALMOST SEVEN YEARS

After almost seven years of effort to bring his family to this country Tony Patrick of New Paltz, a native of Greece has succeeded and he and his wife and two sons, James and Charles, are at last reunited. Tony was married in September 1922, when he was abroad after having been in the Greek Army in the World War. On his return to America he tried to make arrangements to bring his wife to this country but found that he could not as he was not a citizen of the United States. He immediately applied for naturalization papers and eventually obtained them. Then he sent for his family.

Financial and Commercial

New York, July 26 (AP).—Bear traders, apparently having failed in their efforts to force heavy liquidation of stocks, stood aside today and the market rallied in brisk fashion under the leadership of the public utility shares. A few weak spots cropped out here and there but were disregarded. Pools resumed buying operations on a broad scale, lifting scores of issues 2 to 7 points, and sending a few specialties soaring 10 to 20 points.

Call money renewed at 10 per cent as against 9 yesterday, but there appeared to be sufficient funds available to hold the rate at that figure until the month-end credit stringency had passed. Time money developed a firmer undertone. There was no change in commercial paper rates. Little hope of easy credit conditions held out, however, unless there should be a marked change in Federal Reserve policy which has been directed against securities speculation.

Expectations of an unusually favorable quarterly report by the United States Steel Corporation after the close of the market, coupled with the prospect of an extra dividend, helped to revive bullish sentiment. Wall Street expects that the country's largest steel company will show earnings of around $5 a share in the second quarter. International Business Machines reported a large increase in earnings in the first half of the year, as did General Asphalt and a flock of smaller companies. Directors of Frank G. Shattuck and Company, operators of Schrafft's stores, recommended a 200 per cent stock dividend, with an increase in the annual dividend rate on the current stock from $2 to $3.

Wall Street was not yet ready to decide whether today's rise represented the beginning of another major up-swing or merely a brief rally in the declining market. Time alone will supply the answer. One encouraging development to speculators for the advance was the fact that there appears to have been no general liquidation by powerful financial interests, judging from the volume of sales.

Union Pacific dropped 5 points and Eastman Kodak 3 1/2, presumably on realizing. Interboro Rapid Transit and Gimbel Brothers sank to new low levels for the year.

Convicts' Car Seen In Connecticut

Hartford, Conn., July 30 (AP).—A sedan, bearing markers of the car stolen in New York state by the four convicts who escaped from the Auburn prison, was seen here today by a woman who noted the numbers 48466 as the car almost knocked her down. The car, mud-covered, was heading toward Worcester or Springfield.

Springfield, Mass., July 30 (AP).—Acting on a tip from Boston that two of the four convicts who escaped from the Auburn, N. Y., state prison during the rioting Sunday were heading north on the college highway between Hartford, Conn., and Westfield, Sergeant H. B. Dineen and four State Troopers, with riot guns, were stationed at the Connecticut state line in Southwick today in an effort to intercept them. The woman who noted the car numbers, did not know the machine was stolen but noted the license on a slip of paper. Several hours later she reported the matter to Captain William Welter at Police headquarters. A check-up of stolen cars revealed the number to be on a sedan stolen by two of the escaped convicts from Auburn. At the time the car passed her, it contained four men.

Seeking Cause Of Auburn Riot

Conditions Quiet—Prisoners in Cells as Shops Were Burned—Dead Convicts From Buffalo.

Auburn, N. Y., July 30 (AP).—Philip G. Roosa, deputy to Dr. Raymond F. C. Kiehl, commissioner of corrections, was at Auburn State Prison today to investigate Sunday's riot in which two convicts were killed, four escaped and where property damage estimated at more than half a million dollars resulted from fire.

Conditions at the prison today were returning to normal, although industrially it was at a standstill. Most of the shops in which the inmates worked were razed by the fire and the prisoners were confined to their cells.

The prison fare was of the simplest kind, the kitchen having been set aside along with other buildings. The prisoners were taken to the mess hall in small groups under heavy guard. There was no disorder and the prison was quiet. Heavy details of police were around the prison, but the militia was demobilized.

District Attorney Ben Kenyon today interviewed some of the suspected ringleaders who were placed in solitary confinement. He had nothing to say and it was not known how many inmates had been questioned.

Repairs to the south cell block, partially burned, were effected and this gave additional room for housing the inmates. After the riot it was necessary to put two prisoners in one cell but by mid-morning the crowded condition was becoming lessened.

The body of Joseph Cirrigone of Buffalo, one of the convict victims, was claimed by relatives today. Efforts to locate relatives of George Wright, also of Buffalo, the second dead convict, failed.

Semi-Final Bout Interests Fans

Minna-Matinsky Match Promises to Please Fair Grounds Patrons—Freeman After License to Meet Neron Friday—Carpino Without Opponent.

As the Freeman-Neron fight is still in the air, boxing fans are devoting their attention to the Minna-Matinsky match which is the scheduled semi-final bout at the Kingston Fair Grounds, Friday night, August 2.

Nick Minna has a tough opponent in Matinsky but is ready for the New Yorker in every sense of the word. The Kingston lightweight has been taking on practically all the National Guard fighters in his daily training sessions at the armory and every one of them vouches for the statement that Nick is hitting harder than ever. The punch that he has developed is expected to be a big asset to Minna's boxing ability.

Kingston fans know Nick as a clever boxer. He has outpointed some of the National Guards best scrappers by this means and his booster figure that he can overcome Matinsky by the same method. Regardless of how Minna fights Matinsky he will have a tough problem on his hands. The New Yorker has met some of the best lightweights in the game, and his record shows that he will be one of the leading contenders for the honors in his division when he becomes of age. Harry is now but 19 years old, so can not go ten rounds, owing to a ruling of the boxing commission. This is the reason that he is not mixing it with the contenders for the crown today.

Matinsky gave local boxing patrons a glimpse of how he conducts himself in the ring by beating Vince Hart at the Fair Grounds last Thursday. Although the session was short, owing to Matinsky's cleverness and Hart's unseasoned method of fighting after a long lay-off, the battle proved that the New Yorker has a brand of fighting that will make it interesting for Nick Minna or any clever boxer.

Bill Freeman, who is matched with George Neron for the main go but lacks a state box license, went to New York today to get one. It is hoped that he will be successful. Fans are very anxious to see Big Bill, heavyweight champion of the National Guard, against George Neron, sparring partner of Paulino Uscudun.

Joe Carpio of this city, who is to take part in one of the six-round bouts, supporting the main go, has not yet been matched. A tough opponent will be picked for Joe who plans on giving his followers one of his best exhibitions.

Other six rounders on Friday's card are: Irish Johnny Curtin, vs. Frankie Gutierrez; Mickey Carreras, vs. Jack Pettibone. Augustine Perez of Porto Rico and Harry Stamford of Englewood, N. J., will open the show at 8:15 with a four rounder.

Tagging Major League Bases

(By Herbert W. Barker, Associated Press Sports Writer)

Raymond, right-handed pitcher for the Brooklyn Nationals, finally has completed a major league apprenticeship begun in the spring of 1934.

Most of his 21 trips over the Brooklyn base yesterday marked the first complete successful game he ever pitched in the majors, and, incidentally, it was only the second game he ever started and finished.

Now came up to Brooklyn from Memphis in 1934 to pitch one inning for the Dodgers that season. In 1937 he pitched part of one game and received credit for winning it. Last year he appeared in 22 games, one of them complete, and wound up with a record of 10 victories and three defeats. During the current campaign he has worked in many games, received credit for several victories, but never before succeeded in pitching a complete game.

He gave the Reds only eight scattered safeties while the Robins were pounding Red Lucas and Rube Eggenhardt for 17, four of them by the illustrious Babe Herman. The Robins pounded Lucas for four runs in the first inning and tallied four more before he went to the showers in the sixth.

Chief interest in the National League struggle centered in Chicago where the Cubs, by trouncing the Phillies, 12 to 10, increased their lead over Pittsburgh to three and a half games. Jack Wilson's 24th home run with Heathcote on base in the eighth was the decisive blow of the game. Previously Hornsby had cracked out his 22nd homer and Heathcote also had hit for the circuit. Don Hurst's 19th and 20th homers of the year kept the Phils in the running.

The crippled Pirates lost another game to the Boston Braves, 10 to 9. Trailing by 9-7 at the end of the eighth the Braves assaulted Henry Meine and Fred Russell for four runs and the old ball game. L. Wagner's homer with one on had given the Pirates a lead in the eighth. Rabbit Maranville showed no signs of old age in cracking out five hits in as many times at bat.

The New York Giants crashed out 17 hits off the delivery of various and sundry pitchers to swamp the St. Louis Cardinals, 11 to 2. Given a big lead, Larry Benton coasted in to an easy victory. Mel Ott hit his 28th homer and Bill Terry his ninth.

Action in the American League was confined to the Chicago White Sox's 8 to 6 triumph over the Philadelphia Athletics, thereby reducing the White Elephants' lead over the idle New York Yankees to nine and one half games. The Sox cuffed George Earnshaw around for six runs in 5-1-3 innings and then tallied two more off old Jack Quinn in the ninth. A four-run Athletic rally in the ninth fell short of tying the score by two runs. Urban Faber held the A's to three hits in five innings but had to retire because of the intense heat. Ted Lyons finished up.

Industrial League Game Tonight

The Hercules and Columbia-Talcott are scheduled to cross bats in the Industrial League game this evening at the Athletic Field. Ken Best is slated to pitch for the powdermen, with Hotaling doing the receiving. Tommy Lewis probably will be the Colets choice to pitch, with Tomaseski behind the bat.

Cuban Featherweight Tonight.

Chicago, July 30 (AP).—Kid Chocolate, sensational Cuban featherweight, will make his initial western appearance at Mills Stadium tonight in a 10-round bout with Steve Smith, Bridgeport, Conn. The meeting will be their second, the Cuban having won a close decision over Smith recently.

Anson Changed Ump's Verdict

CLARK GRIFFITH, who as a pitcher was positive that all umpires were biased and as a big league manager even more certain, umpired one ball game during his big league career. Incidentally, Griffith in that one game had an experience without precedent in the annals of baseball. We will let Griffith tell the story:

"Did you ever hear of a manager reversing the decision of the umpire, and deciding in his favor? No? Well, let me tell you how it came happened."

"I was pitching for the Chicago White Stockings at the time. The great Cap Anson was managing the club. The umpire for some reason failed to show up for the game and each team selected one of its players to officiate. I was the Chicago nominee and worked the bases. The visiting player selected called the balls and strikes."

"Early in the game there was a close play at first base in which I called the visiting runner out. I felt sure I had rendered the proper ruling but the entire visiting club thought to the contrary and as a man told me so. They threatened to forfeit the game, but I stood my ground. Imagine my surprise when I heard Cap Anson say:

"Let us quit kicking and start the game. It was a terrible decision, the man was safe and he is going to stay at first base."

Clark Griffith.

DIAMOND PICK-UPS

Reading has obtained Danny Taylor from the Chicago Cubs. He can play the infield or outfield.

Fred Schmidt, old time left-handed pitcher for the New York Giants, is doing some scouting for Manager John McGraw.

Sammy Dyer, pitcher for the St. Edward's college team of Austin, Texas, has signed a contract with the St. Louis Cardinals.

Ralph "Joe" Dawson, pitcher, has been released by the Pittsburgh Pirates to the Baltimore club of the International League.

Bob Farham, star athlete of Georgia Tech, has signed with Atlanta. He made quite a reputation as a hitter during his college career.

George Burns, veteran of many major league baseball campaigns, has been signed by the Philadelphia Athletics as a substitute first baseman.

It must have occurred to the Giants two or three times that they could still use a pretty fair ball player around second by the name of Frank Frisch.

Walter Johnson, manager of the Washington American league team, believes big league players must do their recruiting from the sandlots and in the colleges.

The Cubs have reduced their roster to the legal limit of 25 by releasing Ed Lautenbacher, rookie pitcher, to the Reading club of the International League.

Just about the time we had come to the conclusion that pitching signals were of no more use in baseball, the Browns accuse the Athletics of stealing them.

The Columbus club has a neighborhood star on its pitching staff in the person of Harlan Wyssong, an elongated southpaw from Washington Court House, Ohio.

Bill Rariden, catcher, of Bedford, Ind., last with Cincinnati in the major leagues, is a speed-boat enthusiast. Bill quit baseball and returned to Bedford to live.

Mike De Mucchio, Rutgers southpaw pitcher, hurled a no-hit, no-run game against Manhattan college. He fanned fourteen, batted in two runs, but walked one man.

Johnny Neun, first baseman for the Detroit Tigers, who was traded last year to the Toledo Mudhens, has been sold to the Baltimore club of the International League.

Atlanta has placed Rube Robinson, veteran pitcher, on the voluntary retired list, until he regains his pitching form. The old fellow has not been right so far this season.

President Lee Kersey of Des Moines has suspended infielder Johnny White for failure to report to his team after he had been sent there by Columbus of the American association.

Uncertainties of a baseball player's career are reflected in the fate of members of Dallas' 1926 Dixie champions. Only one, Hap Morse, is still with the club, and only five remain in the Texas league.

National league players last year recorded 11,901 safe hits, including 2,021 two baggers, 518 three baggers and 610 home runs. In 1912, before the entry of the "live" ball, hits numbered 10,673; doubles, 1,642; triples, 633 and homers, 314.

McGraw said the Cubs lacked pitchers—Hendricks said they didn't have enough hitting—Lou Gehrig eats fried eels—Lefty O'Doul is hitting many homers over the Philadelphia right field fence—Lena Blackburne's eye is all right now.

Jimmy Ring, National league veteran who recently drew his release from Toledo, made his bow with Newark in the Reading series. He was not able to go all the way, but the Reds by dint of some real batting, pulled through for victory.

BAKER AND FAGAN TOP WOODCLIFF BOUTS TONIGHT

Sergeant Sammy Baker, prominent welterweight, and Irish Danny Fagan of New York are slated for the main 10 rounder at the Woodcliff Park bouts tonight. The late show, scheduled to start at 8:15 o'clock, promises plenty of action.

Senorita Jumps Rope

Senorita D'Alvarez wearing a charming bathing costume as she jumps rope in the sunshine, her favorite method of keeping in shape for the international tennis matches. It was a distinct surprise when the Spanish champ was beaten by Mrs. McElquham, an unknown English player who triumphed through her terrific driving power on the court.

Discomforts Involved in Watching Golf Game

Golf is the only game where the spectator has to work. The galleries at golf tournaments work as hard, if not harder, than the men engaged in competition.

It is one sport where it is just as easy to play as to watch. The only people who view a major tournament with any degree of physical comfort are the players and officials. The on-lookers are pushed, shoved, jostled, tramped upon, herded together, driven apart.

When you consider the discomforts involved in watching a championship match you stop to wonder why anyone attends golf tournaments, but each year the galleries seem larger and more intense.

Never Throw Slow Ball to Any Young Batsman

Jack Quinn, forty-four years old, and with 25 years of pitching behind him, was asked to give some advice to pitchers who have not had the benefit of his years of experience. He was glad to oblige. "Never throw a slow ball to a young fellow," was his prescription for life extension on a baseball mound.

The veteran, who has been pitching longer than any of the present day batsmen have been batting, had just tossed a slow ball to an ambitious rookie and had seen the slow one converted into a fast one against the fence.

An unwritten law among pitchers has long been to avoid throwing slow balls to fellow pitchers, and old Jack's kindly advice makes it even more sweeping.

Value of Ball Ground Increases $1,600,000

Just before the war the owners of the Philadelphia National League baseball club had an option to buy the ground on which they play for $400,000. Now this same real estate is valued at $2,000,000.

The Phillies park is owned by Charles Webb Murphy, once the owner of the Chicago Cubs.

There is much talk now that Ty Cobb, heading a group of Philadelphia sportsmen, will eventually buy the Phils and abandon the grounds if an arrangement can be made to play in the park of the Athletics.

Emory "Topper" Rigney Plans Early Comeback

Emory "Topper" Rigney, former Detroit and Boston shortstop, who was hampered by an aching hip his last two years in the majors is resting at his home in hopes that he may return to the diamond next year.

Rigney, who started during his college days at Texas A. and M., played with Dallas and Fort Worth in the Texas league and then went to the American league, where he worked at shortstop for Detroit, Boston and Washington before the injury forced him to quit.

EMORY "TOPPER" RIGNEY PROMISES PLenty OF ACTION.

Bouts supporting the Baker-Fagan go are as follows: Joe Tinsley vs. Billy Kobut, 10 rounds; Joe Caruso vs. Richie Graham, six rounds; Sindia Diaz of Brazil vs. Kid Farcus of Poughkeepsie, six rounds; Jerry Samper, Poughkeepsie vs. Petie Mike of New York, four rounds.

Spent Money. Georgia Tech will have nine of the 11 men who beat California back on this year's team.

Hack Wilson fanned six times in a row and then went on a batting rampage and broke up three ball games in as many days.

Noore Dame and Army eleven play in New York November 30.

Low Ponessa, kicked around by several clubs, is supplying the big punch in the Cleveland batting attack.

Rabbit Maranville and Johnny Evers both rejected offers to manage the Braves.

The day that Bill McKee's reported back to the Cards, Jim Evers came out of a batting slump with two hits and a sacrifice in four times up.

Paulino Uscudun carried his right arm in a sling for six weeks after his losing battle against Max Schmeling.

John Salo, Passaic, N. J., politician, won the Pyle Atlantic-to-Pacific dash, then rested a month and finished first in a six-day marathon.

Detroit stands a good chance of getting a big heavyweight bout because of its good showing as a boxing center.

The real name of Jackie Fields, new welterweight champion, is Jackie Pinkelstein.

The same day the Robins acquired Pitcher Luther Roy from the Phillies on waivers, they sent Pitcher Lou Koupal to the Phillies by the same route.

"Bullet Joe" Bush is pitching winning ball for Newark in the International League.

More than $2,300,000 was deposited in Ohio banks by 300,000 children in 1928.

New Safety Law Partly in Effect

Albany, July 29.—Although the new Safety Responsibility Law (chapter 651 of the laws of 1929) does not become effective until September 1, it is immediately effective as to future accidents up to which judgments may be rendered. The New York State Automobile Association points out through a booklet just issued entitled "The ABC of the Safety Responsibility Law."

For instance, in the case of any accident happening at this time, there would be no liability of a judgment being rendered until after September 1, in case of a failure to pay such judgment would bring about suspension of the judgment debtor's license and registration certificates.

Under this new law, when a motorist fails to pay a final judgment for damages rendered in an automobile accident within given days, and where no appeal has been taken, his operator's license and registration certificates are suspended until the judgment is satisfied.

In the case of property damage judgments, this section governs only when the amount of judgment is in excess of $100. In all cases, the provisions of the law are satisfied when the judgment debtor has paid $1,000 for injuries to one person and $10,000 for two, or $1,000 for property damage. However, such judgment debtor must give proof of financial responsibility before his license will be restored.

The entire operation of this new law is explained in language that any person can understand in "The ABC of the Safety Responsibility Law." This booklet will be distributed by local Automobile Clubs affiliated with the New York State Automobile Association.

"This is not a compulsory insurance law," the booklet points out. "Therefore, an applicant need not provide his financial responsibility in order to obtain an operator's license or register a car."

Nevertheless, from now on "the inability of any operator or owner to prove financial responsibility may bring serious consequences under certain conditions."

Although the motorist who is financially responsible, or is protected by insurance or otherwise, will not be adversely affected by this new law, he will still be subject to all the provisions of the old law, it is pointed out.

This new law has been enacted as a safety measure to enforce safe driving and careful use of the roads.

Security required by this law may be the certificate of an insurance company, the bond of a surety company, the bond of individual sureties owning real estate, when approved by the judge of a court of record, or a satisfactory deposit with the Department of Taxation and Finance.

This law was sponsored by the New York State Automobile Association through its law and legislative committee of which Owen B. Augspurger, president of the New York Automobile Club, is chairman. Mr. Augspurger is also vice-president of the New York State Automobile Association.

The law is modeled along the lines of the American Automobile Association's Safety Responsibility Bill. Six other states besides New York have already passed similar bills and it is believed that a majority of the remaining states will adopt such a measure next year, thus establishing the principals of the Safety Responsibility Bill throughout the country.

Reveals Simple Method of "Invisible" Writing

An ex-convict who spent 15 terms in prison, recently visited the office of the London Daily Chronicle, and left a letter purporting to reveal a secret method of invisible writing by means of which prisoners were able to communicate with friends outside. In the letter he claims that this was the method employed by two prisoners who committed suicide, when, as stated at the time, they were able to send a request to friends to forward them poisoned sandwiches under the system which enables prisoners on remand to receive food from outside. The letter continues: "In this letter is the method under which they sent out their messages. Can you find it?" The explanation and a test of the trick were finally volunteered. In the blank spaces of the letter the ex-convict had penned an invisible message by dipping the pen nib in his mouth and writing with saliva. Lightly done, this cannot be seen by the naked eye. To reveal the writing all that had to be done is to rub ordinary ink over the blank space, blot in quickly and the invisible words stand out like ordinary penmanship.

Daddy Stork the Victim of "Eternal Triangle"

Fratricide is not uncommon in the snake world. Snake will eat snake, and very often does; but it must be said in justification that a snake must be very hungry and see no prospect of food at all before he will deliberately set out to eat his brother. Some snakes, however, loathe those of other species and kill them on sight.

German naturalists have observed the murderous passion in some birds, especially storks. One celebrated naturalist tells of a stork "triangle tragedy" enacted on a high chimney pot. While the male mate was away a younger and handsomer bird came to woo the lady. She first repulsed, then tolerated, then succumbed to his blandishments. Then, when the old husband was out frog hunting one day, the guilty pair flew to his marsh and belabored him to death.

SAUGERTIES LUNCH ROOM ROBBED WHILE CHEF IS OUT

Thieves made away with a goodly sum from the cash register of the Grover Carson lunch room, Saugerties, Saturday night, while William McCabe, chef, left the place unattended for several minutes. An investigation by the police has so far failed to give any clue as to who robbed the place.

The robbery was discovered by McCabe when he went to the cash register to record a sale. The machine was near the door and within easy reach of the thieves, who boldly did the job while many people passed the lunch room. No one was in the place when McCabe left it.

Popular Swimming Place.

One of the most popular swimming places of the season which has developed in the past year is in the Plattekill near the covered bridge on the old Kings Highway between Lake Katrine and Saugerties. Every day hundreds of people are visiting this place, to swim in the pure cold spring water of the creek. Henry Lang, a popular employee of the West Shore Railroad conducts a refreshment stand near the swimming place and serves all kinds of refreshments. He also has free bath houses for those who wish to dress for bathing at the spot.

Forty states enacted highway legislation this year.
